
Thick curves pool equally sized intervals from 5 runs (53 per run). Thin curves show each run. Intervals are temporally related and are descriptive samples, not independent experimental repetitions.